

PRAYS WELL WITH OTHERS

Don't let anything break you.....

You will come across many people in your life. They will all have a purpose to fulfill. Some will teach you a lesson and some will leave your soul wounded. Some will love you for their selfish motives and some will love you unconditionally. Some will cheat you, lie to you and stab you in the back. Learn from the lessons life teaches you and don't waste your time on people who are there in your life for their convenience and who never take you seriously. Don't allow people to use you for their selfish reasons. Just be strong and don't let anything break you or leave you shattered. Choose the people whom you want in your life. ~~~ Aarti Khurana
