

“This letter is to you.

The you that’s had a rough week. The you that seems to be under constant storm clouds. The you that feels invisible. The you that doesn’t know how much longer you can hold on. The you that has lost faith. The you that always blames yourself for everything that goes wrong. To You.

You are incredible. You make this world a little bit more wonderful. You have so much potential and so many things left to do. You have time. Better things are coming your way, so please hang in there. YOU CAN DO IT.”

Kansas - Cannon Alexander update – got to ride in a HELICOPTER night of June 6th !!!! But mommy says I’m going to have to tone it down with my lavish lifestyle style a bit because it scares her way too much. I now am taking double the amount of that yucky medicine stuff than I was when I was in Children’s the first time. My wonderful team of doctors here just think I am growing so big that I need more medicine to keep my heart from running those marathons. My run last night made me so sleepy today. I can tell you guys have been praying so hard for me again because I’m officially 24 hours SVT free! That’s a good step closer to getting back home to Kailyn, Daila and Corbin soon. I already miss them so much! I am so glad so many of you are praying for me still. I love all of you so very much! I better go, it’s almost time for my bedtime supper! Thank you for loving me and praying so hard for me!
